DM Thomas Foundation for Young People

DM Thomas Foundation for Young People is committed to transforming the lives of sick, disabled and disadvantaged children and young people. We do this by supporting positive, life-changing and life-enhancing projects that improve the health and education of children and young people.

Through our ABLE grant framework, we provide the tools, training, opportunities and support to help these young people be able to reach their full potential.

Finley - Achieve It

Finley has Spinal Muscular Atrophy Type 2 and cannot crawl or walk. But with his new Wizzybug, Finley was able to experience independent movement for the very first time, giving him freedom that he has never known before.

We provided fun, innovative powered wheelchairs to disabled children under five through Designability’s Wizzybug Loan Scheme.

Chairman’s message

Welcome to our Impact Report 2017. We are delighted to share how we continued to improve the lives of young people in 2017. Every young person deserves the chance to be the best that they can be. As a Foundation we work tirelessly to transform the lives of sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people across Europe.

I am proud that in 2017 we awarded over £1.4 million to 323 projects and helped to transform the lives of over 45,900 children and young people in our communities. We continued to open up young people’s access to education and training, and provide opportunities for growth and development. We also provided treatment, care, equipment and experiences to young people with illnesses or life-limiting conditions. With our project partners we have helped young people to gain new skills and qualifications, to increase their confidence and independence, to improve their health and wellbeing, and to receive vital care and support.

This life-changing impact was only possible thanks to our generous donors, volunteers and partners. From hosting black-tie Foundation Balls and fun community events to taking on impressive physical challenges, our supporters continually found ways to help our charity throughout 2017. Thanks to our key partnerships we were able to utilise our supporters’ time, skills and donations to positively impact on the lives of even more young people across Europe. I would like to thank every one of our supporters for their ongoing generosity and commitment. Without our supporters we would not be able to help transform the lives of thousands of sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people each year.

I would like to say thank you to our Board of Trustees, which is made up of talented and dedicated individuals, who volunteer their time and expertise to guide and promote the work of the Foundation. I would also like to thank the Foundation team who, with the help of our volunteers and partners, work hard every day to ensure that we achieve the best for the young people that we support.

I do hope that you enjoy reading about the impact of our work and I look forward to working together to help more young people to fulfil their potential.

“I am proud to be involved with the Foundation’s mission and to support its work transforming young lives. Through partnerships with individuals and organisations, the Foundation strives to improve the health and education of sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people so they can fulfill their potential.”

Ian Carter, President, DM Thomas Foundation for Young People

Our vision
Our vision is of a world where all children and young people are able to transform their lives for the better.

Our mission
Our mission is to improve the health and education of young people so that they can transform their lives. We support young people to be ABLE to achieve their goals, beat or ameliorate their health conditions, live full lives with training and employment and experience opportunities to enhance and develop their skills and confidence.

Our objectives
To achieve our mission we provide young people who are sick, disabled or disadvantaged with training, equipment, support and opportunities to transform their own lives and fulfil their potential.

We raise important funds through events and campaigns which engage our supporters, companies and individuals, to share their time, skills and donations. These funds then support young people in our communities through our ABLE grant framework.

Our remits
Our ABLE grant framework sits under two broad remits – education and health. Our grant support helps local and community charities and organisations to deliver projects which provide access to opportunities and improve wellbeing.

Education
Education is a vital tool providing young people with the skills and confidence to fulfil their potential and open up opportunities and choices.

We support projects which ensure access to education and opportunities for development for sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people. We provide educational equipment and facilities, training and qualifications, and other important opportunities for young people to improve their education, to build their confidence and to achieve their goals.

Health
We strive to ensure that young people who are sick or have chronic or life-limiting conditions receive the best support possible. By funding projects which improve the care, treatment experiences and outcomes for sick young people, we hope to improve their health and wellbeing.

Under our health remit we provide treatment, health education, counselling, and specialist equipment and facilities. Given our education remit, we also support health projects which provide or enhance access to educational opportunities for sick or life-limited young people.

Henrique
Henrique, who has a cystic hygroma, has undergone many intense procedures, which have often left him traumatised and sensitive to touch. Receiving local hospice care and activities such as music therapy not only helps Henrique to recover but also supports his development including speech. In 2017, we provided specialist medical equipment for children with life-limiting conditions in the palliative care unit at Richard House Children’s Hospice in London.
Elodie – Beat It

“I just love her growing confidence with the other children in the support group as it is much more difficult for blind children to play and make friends as they miss play gestures and facial expressions.”

Elodie’s mum

We provided an electronic braille machine to support children who are visually impaired to learn braille, children like Elodie. Elodie has a condition which prevented her eyes forming properly and is visually impaired. She regularly attends a support group run by our project partner Angel Eyes NI. Thanks to the new braille machine at her support group, Elodie is now able to develop her awareness of braille and increase her confidence in braille literacy, whilst also spending time with other children her age.

Director’s message

In our mission to create a world where all children and young people are able to transform their lives for the better, we are continuing to improve the education and wellbeing of thousands of sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people. And 2017 was no different.

Last year we awarded 323 grants totalling £1,450,848, helping to transform the lives of 45,918 children and young people. By supporting local and regional health and education projects we provided specialist equipment, vital resources, important training and support, and enriching experiences to help young people in our communities to fulfill their potential.

Improving the lives of so many young people was only possible thanks to our fantastic donors, volunteers and partners. This year we continued to work closely with Hilton. Thanks to our supporters who volunteer their time, skills and resources, we hosted 84 events with Hilton in 2017, including 15 Foundation Balls, golf days and various community events. As well as helping us to raise a fantastic £689,770.40, our Hilton supporters also helped to identify local youth projects enabling us to directly support disadvantaged young people in their communities.

Hilton has also been an important employer partner as we further developed our focus on employability in 2017. As many young people continue to face barriers to employment, we provided 12,937 disabled and disadvantaged young people with valuable training, skills and work opportunities to help them secure paid employment.

2017 was also the pilot year for our new employability programme The Right Course. Working closely with founding partners Landsec, Hilton and Novus and with the vision of programme founder Fred Sirieix, we are training young offenders in a working restaurant and building relationships with our employers to increase their chance of employment upon release.

Through our partnership with Les Mills UK, we continued to engage their team members to improve the health, wellbeing and education of children through physical activity. By administering the donor-advised fund, Les Mills Fund for Children, we awarded 8 grants totalling £20,600 helping 380 children lead more active lives.

This report is about the difference our work makes and celebrates what young people are able to do. With our supporters, volunteers and project partners, we are helping young people to be the best that they can be.

I would like to thank everyone who works with the Foundation. Together we are transforming young lives.

Volunteering

In 2017, our fantastic supporters volunteered their time and skills to support both our projects and events to transform young lives.

Working with our corporate partners, we created opportunities for their team members to share their skills and expertise with young people. Our employer partners led industry visits and skills training sessions for the young learners on our into-work programmes. By partnering team members with local projects, they were able to volunteer their skills and support activities with young people in the community. From Ball volunteers to race marshals, the success of our events also rely on our volunteers and their commitment.

Thank you for supporting our work to transform young lives.

Toushane – Live It

Toushane had been unemployed for three years and was frustrated that he was unable to find work. Then he joined our into-work programme Galvin’s Chance in 2017. Taking part in hospitality training, industry visits and mentoring sessions, Toushane was able to develop important employability skills and industry knowledge. On workplace visits Toushane learnt about behaviour and etiquette in professional settings and was receptive to feedback.

On his two week work placement at Park Plaza London Riverbank, Toushane was given the opportunity to try working as a concierge as the hotel felt his personality suited the role. Toushane shined in the position and he was offered a permanent job. A year on, Toushane still really enjoys working as a concierge at Park Plaza London Riverbank and is grateful for the opportunities Galvin’s Chance gave him to change his life.

In 2017, 13 young people took part in Galvin’s Chance receiving the training, support and opportunities to secure paid employment and change their lives.
As many young people continue to face barriers to employment and the hospitality industry experiences increasing skills and staff shortages, our into-work programmes are providing young people with the skills, training and confidence to contribute and thrive in the industry. It is up to us as an industry to help the next generation.

As Galvin’s Chance enters its tenth year, we are hoping to support more young people to start careers in hospitality by expanding our opportunities for supporters and partners to get involved.

As part of our commitment to support young people to fulfil their potential, we continued to develop our employability focus in 2017. We provided important training, skills, qualifications and work opportunities through our employability projects and programmes to help disabled and disadvantaged young people to secure employment.

In 2017, we supported 92 employability projects, providing training facilities, equipment, programmes and opportunities, helping over 12,900 young people to access important training and work opportunities.

Within these projects Thomas, who has learning disabilities, is able to develop important skills and knowledge such as planning, budgeting and running a business by taking part in various learning projects in a new life skills kitchen in Surrey.

Patty was part of a group of young people who were able to improve their skills and confidence and raise their aspirations by participating in youth elections using the resources that we provided.

Joseph was able to secure a permanent job after developing his skills and confidence on an apprenticeship where he learnt to sail, row and teach. We supported disadvantaged young people in London, including Joseph, to gain transferable skills and access work opportunities on apprenticeship and volunteering programmes with AHOY.

Supporting young people into work

The Right Course

2017 saw the pilot year of our employability programme The Right Course. Working closely with programme creator Fred Sirieix, founding partners Landsec, Novus and Hilton and our employer partners, the pilot ran in a staff restaurant at HMP YOI Isis in South East London. Delivering NVQ training through Novus, the young offenders learn top level service and restaurant management skills in a working restaurant setting thanks to direct training from hospitality industry professionals who volunteer their time and expertise. By introducing them to potential employers whilst in prison, we aim to increase their chance of securing work on release, which will hopefully lead to a reduction of reoffending.

After a successful pilot year we look forward to expanding the programme to more young offenders and prison restaurants in the UK.

Partners in transforming young lives

In 2017, we further strengthened relationships with our corporate partners, whose time, skills and generous donations help make our work transforming young lives possible. Through our partnerships we provide a bespoke service to administer charitable funds safely, offering experienced guidance from planning fundraising events and facilitating employee volunteering to grant due diligence and disbursal to nominated causes and monitoring the impact achieved.

“As part of my commitment to supporting vulnerable young people in our communities, I am proud to be a member of the Grants Committee. It is a privilege for me and my fellow committee members to identify many life-changing projects which have a long term positive impact on our communities. By providing specialist equipment or supporting a refurbishment we are creating important opportunities and improving the wellbeing of many young people.”

Andrew Keating, Managing Director EMEA, Sysco Guest Supply

“I am immensely proud of the into-work programme which we have created with the Foundation. Now in its tenth year, our partnership has provided more than 170 young people with skills, training and support to secure paid employment within hospitality, young people who simply needed a chance.”

Chris Galvin, Chef Patron at Galvin Restaurants and Patron of the Foundation

“As a founding partner of The Right Course and an employer partner to Galvin’s Chance, we are proud to work with the Foundation to offer young people access to training and employment. These programmes are certainly win-win, as they also create skills-sharing and volunteering opportunities for our Team Members.”

Kathryn Porter, Director of Youth Strategy – Europe, Middle East and Africa, Hilton

“We have been working closely with the Foundation since 2014 to inspire children to lead active lives. Through our fantastic partnership the Les Mills Fund for Children is providing this opportunity to thousands of children across the UK. The Foundation team supports our employees with their fundraising efforts and creates opportunities for them to volunteer their time and skills to help children.”

Wendy Coulson, CEO, Les Mills UK

“At Shiva Hotels we share a deep commitment to supporting young people and the community. Through our recent partnership with the Foundation, as sponsors of the Foundation Ball in 2017, we were able to extend much-needed hospice care to over 400 life-limited children in Hertfordshire, and provide important training and support opportunities to young people as they leave care. We are proud that our partnership with the Foundation has benefitted so many young people.”

Rishi Sachdev, Managing Director at Shiva Hotels

“We always enjoy working with the Foundation to help deliver its many events, including its Awards Lunch and the Foundation Ball at London Hilton on Park Lane. We were proud to have been a part of last year’s Foundation Ball which raised over £350,000 to support young people.”

Andy Miller, Managing Director of Production Plus

With her new trike Keeva was able to build her physical strength and confidence to learn to walk again after having part of her pelvis removed to treat a malignant bone tumour. In 2017, the Les Mills Fund for Children (LMFC) provided specially adapted trikes to children affected by cancer to improve their fitness and confidence.

Christian Paynton, Managing Director of the United Fresh Consortium

Following our Foundation Ball in 2017, generously sponsored by Shiva Hotels, we are helping to provide over 400 life-limited children, children like Orla, with important hospice care by supporting Keech Children’s Hospice to expand its services in Hertfordshire.
Coming together for young people

Our work is made possible by our brilliant supporters, volunteers and partners across Europe. From Foundation Balls and charity golf days to impressive challenge events and CharTEAs, our supporters continued to find fun and engaging ways to raise funds and support sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people in our communities in 2017.

Our supporters challenged themselves with English Channel swims, marathons, coast to coast cycles and long distance walks, whilst over 30 Hilton hotels across Europe joined together to collect kms for Around the World in a Day.

15 Foundation Balls took place in 2017 with world class hospitality, fun themes, exciting entertainment and fundraising games.

Corporate partners, suppliers and team members competed in charity golf days to support our work, whilst 43 chefs and chocolatiers took part in Chocs for Chance, our chocolate box campaign for Galvin’s Chance.
Leighan – Live It

Before starting the Duke of Edinburgh’s Bronze Award, Leighan often found walking exhausting but she eagerly accepted the opportunity to take part in the award through her disability project. Leighan, who has dwarfism, cerebral palsy and epilepsy, joined a group of young people, seven of whom had disabilities, to support and work with each other to complete their Bronze, Silver and Gold expeditions and achieve their awards.

Leighan and her team were not only able to develop their teamwork and life skills and increase their confidence, but also enjoy an incredible sense of achievement.

We partnered with Cumbria Youth Alliance to support young people with physical and learning disabilities to take part in the Duke of Edinburgh’s Awards.

Get involved in 2018

In 2018, we want to help more sick, disabled and disadvantaged young people to transform their lives. Here are just some of the ways we want to do this:

- With our supporters and partners we want to raise and award over £1.5 million to improve the health and education of young people in our communities.
- We want to continue creating opportunities for young people to gain the skills, experience and confidence so that they are able to secure employment.

How you can help

To achieve this, we need your support. We offer many fun and exciting ways for you and your team to get involved with the Foundation and support our life-changing work.

To get involved, please email us at info@dmtfyp.org or visit our website dmthomasfoundation.org/get-involved

“I have been involved with the Foundation as a Patron since 2015 and I am proud to play a part in its growth as it finds new ways to reach more young people in our communities to improve their health and education. Please do join us as we continue to help young people to fulfil their potential.”

Christopher Biggins, Patron of DM Thomas Foundation for Young People
In 2017, we funded a residential activities camp with Cued Speech Association UK for deaf children to learn Cued Speech, a communication system which uses handshapes to make sounds visually clear. By taking part in various camp activities, children were also able to increase their word bank, confidence and social skills, children like Dana*.

Before learning Cued Speech, Dana only had a handful of words and understood very little, which often made her frustrated. Dana hated leaving the house and at preschool she was withdrawn and reluctant to interact with other children.

Her parents discovered Cued Speech and together they learnt the handshapes at cue camp lessons and started to explore new sounds and words. Using Cued Speech, Dana is able to reproduce all the sounds that she needs and her speech has developed rapidly. Dana’s confidence has also grown and she is now able to take part in everyday conversations and activities with her family and other children.
